

The potential for interference to critical communications, and the potential for interference to the broadband communications is extremely high. Those who use the HF spectrum in good faith and those who buy broadband services in good faith will be at loggerheads over this issue. No one will win, and the battle will rage for a long time. BPL is a very bad idea, and needs to be squelched before the problems begin.